Ike Declares Recession Is Nearing End

By DAYTON MOORE
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said today there are indications that the nation is near or at the bottom of the recession.

The President told a news conference he feels the nation is going through the worst of the economic slump right now.

He also repeated his firm stand that he will not be panicked into proposing a tax cut. He said that serious consideration must be given to the future effects of a tax cut rather than merely the immediate benefits.

Would Repeal Tax on Certain Items

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The Arkansas Commerce Commission recommended Tuesday that the federal excise tax on airline, rail, road and bus tickets be repealed.

Commission chairman William M. Berry said the group passed a resolution asking for the abolition of the tax because it is discriminatory and adverse to the general public welfare.

Veto of Farm Bill Believed to Be Certain

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said today he will not be stampeded into proposing a tax cut as an anti-recession weapon.

The President made the statement in telling a news conference he feels the country is going through the worst of the economic slump right now.

While a tax cut might have immediate benefits, he said, serious thought must be given to its effects in the future, particularly in view of growing federal spending.

If we go frantic he said we will be doing the wrong thing.

The President said he believes we have got to be very very careful about what we are doing to the economy over the years rather than considering only the immediate difficulties.

The present economic situation could be compounded by anything worse he said.

He said he never has excluded the possibility that a tax cut would be desirable if the economic situation worsens. But he said cut taxes or take any other anti-recession measure considered unwise.

The President's statement came after a top-level administration official told the United Press that the President and his economic advisers fear that a belief that a tax cut this year already has been implanted in the public's mind.

This official said such fear may have prompted consumers to cut back on their buying in anticipation of a tax reduction. This is prolonging the recession.

WASHINGTON (UP)—An administration source said today President Eisenhower will veto the Democratic-sponsored farm bill, "probably this week," despite an unusual 17-14 vote by the Senate Republican conference urging him to sign it.

The veto message "is now being written," this source said.

The bill would exempt Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson's plans to lower farm price supports this year. There is little chance of a two-thirds majority being mustered in either Senate or House to override the veto.

Killer of 10 Enters Plea of Innocent

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP)—Charles R. Starkweather, 19-year-old confessed killer of 10 persons, pleaded innocent today at his arraignment on two counts of first degree murder.

The bandy-legged former garage hauler is charged with killing Robert Jensen, 17, Bennett, Neb., on or about Jan. 27 "with premeditated malice" and while in the perpetration of a robbery.

The red-haired teen-ager answered "I do" in a low voice when Judge Harry A. Spenser asked if he understood the charges.

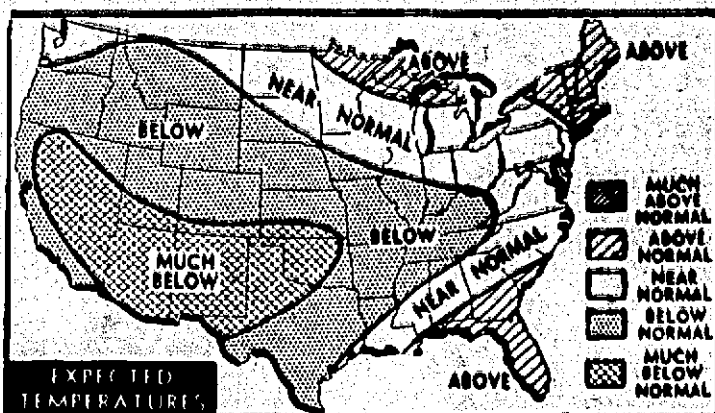

When Starkweather was asked to make a plea, his court-appointed attorneys, William S. Matschulat and T. Clement Gaughan, said he would plead innocent to both counts.

Spenser then ordered Starkweather held without bond and tentatively set his trial date for May 5.

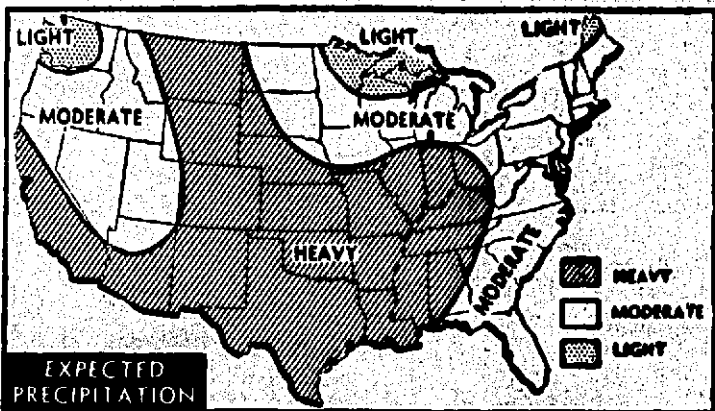

Starkweather has confessed a total of 11 killings—10 of them in the Lincoln-Bennett area of eastern Nebraska. He was captured in Wyoming Jan. 20 while trying to flee to Washington state in a stolen car.

His companion during the murder rampage, Carl Eugene, 14, is also charged with two counts of first degree murder. Her preliminary hearing in County Court is still pending an appeal to County Judge Herbert A. Ronin's decision against transferring her case to Juvenile Court where the death penalty could not be imposed.

Asks Laws to Expose Labor Union Crooks

By DICK WET
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell asked Congress today to enact laws to expose "crooks and racketeers" in labor relations and to "help the legitimate trade union movement clean its own house."

He appeared as the first witness before a Senate Labor-subcommittee under a cloud of controversy over sensational findings by the special Senate Rackets Committee.

The labor group opened hearings on labor legislation proposed by the administration, individual senators, and the Rackets Committee.

Mitchell said he was pleased that the proposals by the Rackets Committee generally followed the program recommended by President Eisenhower.

Aid Union, Management
The administration program would require public reporting of union finances and employee welfare funds and would require unions to guarantee democratic conduct of their internal affairs. Violations could lead to withdrawal of union rights granted by federal law and forfeiture of tax exemptions.

Other provisions aimed at "middle men" could bar payments through such channels to employ representatives in efforts to influence or interfere with union organization.

"The program we are proposing," Mitchell said, "is designed to raise the general standard of responsibility and accountability of unions and employers in labor-management relations and at the same time to keep government out of undesirable direct interference with union or employer matters."

Insurance Firms Ask Rate Hike

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—State Insurance Commissioner Harvey Combs today requested the Casualty Underwriters for an increase in automobile liability insurance.

Edward L. Wright, an attorney for the insurance companies, told Combs at a hearing that the increase is needed to counter increased medical and hospital costs, more traffic and more powerful cars, and higher jury awards.

The latter part of January, Combs turned down another request for an increase from the National Board of Underwriters and the National Automobile Underwriters Association.

Progress on Highways Told to Kiwanians

State Highway Director Herbert Eldridge of Little Rock, Commissioner Glen Wallace of Nashville, W. E. Hicks, district highway engineer of Camden, and County Judge U. G. Garrett of Hempstead and Carl Mitchell of Nevada County spoke briefly before Hope Kiwanis Club Tuesday noon at Hotel Barlow.

Mr. Eldridge reviewed highway progress in Arkansas in recent years and said Highway 67 from Texarkana to Memphis now was a 24 foot hard surfaced road, with the exception of four miles this side of Arkadelphia which will be widened this summer. He pointed to improved hard surfaced roads in other sections of Arkansas.

Progress, he said, was going forward just as fast as money became available, but he lamented the possibility that Arkansas might lose 12 million dollars in highway funds because of the state's inability to match federal funds in the next two years.

Touching on the new super U.S. highway to be constructed across Arkansas, he said that three million dollars of state money went into the project for every 30 million in federal funds.

Turning to primary and secondary roads, the highway director pointed out that his department could move fast in the construction of these roads in counties where right-of-way came easy. He appealed for cooperation of land owners to provide right-of-ways.

Commissioner Glen Wallace who spoke briefly, said Hempstead County had been fortunate in the past five years in highway construction and that the commission wanted to help further on completion of Highway 73 from the Crossroads to Columbus to Searcy.

Firemen were summoned to the home about 4:30 a.m. George said he was awakened by the smell of smoke and found the house in flames.

Hospital attendants said George told them his wife was not at home at the time of the fire.

Three Perish in Fire Near Jainer, Ark.

JOINER (UP)—A 20-year-old farmer and three children died Monday when a tenant house was destroyed by fire, city marshal Granville Haskett said today.

Haskett said he was told the farmer, Elvin Cooley, got out of the house but lost his life when he went back in after the children. Two of them were his daughters, Kathy Glenn, 5, and Joan, 2. The third was Georgia Mae Cooley, 4 months, daughter of Tom Cooley.

Tom Cooley, a brother of the dead man, and his wife were visiting at the farm home, owned by W. S. (Tuck) Unithorn of Memphis. Haskett said he was told the fire was caused when one of the Cooleys started to build a fire with tractor fuel in a stove. The flames flared up and set the building on fire.

Mrs. Elvin Cooley and Mrs. Tom Cooley were injured slightly in the blaze. Two other children of the Elvin Cooleys were saved.

The house was one of several owned by Unithorn, district manager of the Employment Security Department.

Youths to Sponsor Magician

In the picture above, the atmosphere supports a sleeping beauty. This is one of the many wonderful and mystifying acts performed by Lee Grabel during his Mystery Revue which will be staged at the High School Auditorium on Monday night, April 21 at 7:30. A young lady will be allowed to come from the audience, walk on stage and touch the sleeping girl while she sleeps unsupported in the air.

Mr. Grabel will also fire a girl from a cannon over the heads of the audience into a baby moon which will spin in orbit, even though he will prove there are no connections.

The Great Grabel will also produce beautiful girls from sound waves. They will materialize in a television set which he constructs in full view. He will also perform the unbelievable feat of disintegrating a person in mid-air.

He will also perform the famous "Houdini" escape act which was taught to Grabel by Mrs. Houdini herself.

These are only a few of the great acts that you will see by coming to the Lee Grabel Show on April 21. This show is sponsored by the Hope Youth Center and all proceeds will go toward completing the remodeling of the Youth Center. There will be a matinee at 2:30 for school children and also an evening show at 7:30. This show will be playing in Little Rock and Texarkana and local folks are urged to see the show in Hope. It will be exactly the same show and tickets will be sold here for less.

Other Space Report

In other news conference highlights, the President:

— Announced that the United Nations will be invited to select a group of qualified scientific observers to witness a large U.S. nuclear explosion in the Pacific this summer. The world observers probably including Russians, will be invited to see for themselves the progress this country is making in reducing radioactive fallout.

— Said that he soon will make public a comprehensive report by his scientific advisory committee on outer space. He asked that all news media give the report, titled "Introduction to Outer Space," the widest possible dissemination.

— Said he believes better ways ought to be found to distribute surplus foods to the needy. But he flatly rejected the so-called Brannan Plan which calls for federal subsidies toward the retail prices.

— Declined to say what action he would take on the Democratic-sponsored bill to freeze the farm prices. He said he would act soon on it. He is expected to veto it.

— Won't Be Stamped — As for a possible tax cut, the President said he never has excluded the possibility that a cut would be desirable if the economic situation worsens. But he said that every thoughtful person, including both Democratic and Republican leaders, holds the view that it would be a serious step in the light of the growing federal spending.

For this reason, he said, it is not something to do lightly and the administration is not going to be stampeded into it.

He emphasized that serious consideration must be given to the effects of a tax cut on the national economy in future years.

He said the administration is not going to cut taxes or take any other anti-recession measure considered to be unwise.

The President was emphatic in reiterating his position that the American people must not depend on Washington as the sole source of help in solving difficulties growing out of the recession. He said states also must share in the responsibility.

He said one purpose of his program to extend the period of payment of unemployment compensation benefits is to take part of the burden off states so they can do more in taking care of relief cases and other ways such as distribution of food.

Bayer Has Lead in Seminole Play

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UP)—Big George Bayer of San Gabriel, Calif., carried a one-stroke lead into the second and final round of the $10,000 Seminole Professional golf tournament today, but never had been under such pressure.

Right on his heels were Ben Hogan of the Fort Worth and Frank Stranahan of Toledo.

Bayer opened Tuesday with a four-under-par 68, combining a good short game with his famed long drives.

Hogan, who has been practicing hard the past two months, and Stranahan tied at 69. Then came Tom Nieporie, Jim Sligh, Dave Marr, Gordianus, and So Wilinger, all tied at 70.

Cloudy Skies Over Much of Arkansas

By UNITED PRESS

Cloudy skies hung over Arkansas today and the forecast said that would be the picture for the next 24 to 36 hours.

The forecast said it would be mostly cloudy and cool this afternoon, tonight and Thursday, and Friday will continue mostly cloudy with little change in temperature. Highs today will be in the 40's, lows tonight in the mid 30's to mid 40's, and highs Thursday in the mid 40's to mid 50's.

The extended forecast—Wednesday through next Monday—said temperatures will average four to eight degrees below the normal maximum of 60 and the normal minimum of 46, with no important daily changes. Precipitation will be moderate to locally heavy with occasional rain occurring mainly near the end of the week.

The high in Arkansas Tuesday was 50 at Arkadelphia, the low today 35 at Fayetteville and Mountain Home.

Light general rain fell over Arkansas Tuesday and Tuesday night.

At 11 a.m., skies were cloudy throughout the state, and Pine Bluff reported a drizzle. Fayetteville had 40 degrees, Flippin 41, Walnut Ridge and Pine Bluff, 43; Little Rock 44, Hot Springs 46, Fort Smith 47, and Texarkana 48.

Negro Group Objects to P. B. Delay

PINE BLUFF (UP)—The Pine Bluff school board's reasons for postponing integration were described today as a "flimsy excuse of breaking its word with the Negroes of the city."

Dr. D. E. Parker made the charges on behalf of the Legal Redress Committee of the Pine Bluff branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The Pine Bluff schools were to be integrated next September, but the plan was postponed last week. The board said its action was taken because of the crisis that arose in Little Rock, and because of unsettled racial conditions elsewhere in Arkansas.

The board said it would consider the program again "no later than April, 1959."

Parker said the NAACP might consider court action, but he refused to elaborate.

"The white people of the south have always said that they could and would solve the racial problems if left alone and that they resented federal court decrees which attempt to force integration down their throats," Parker said. "The Pine Bluff school has been left alone and given an opportunity to solve the problem, but their action now seems to mean that they do not want the problem solved."

Plane Crashes in Florida, Five Killed

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UP)—A rented plane carrying four adults and two children on a care-free sightseeing trip crashlanded in the ocean less than three miles offshore Tuesday night. The single survivor charged that an airport crew in Nassau failed to refuel the plane.

The plane ran out of gas within sight of shore and the pilot "made a beautiful landing on the water," according to Floyd F. Seiles, 34, of East Detroit, who was picked up by a boat shortly after the accident.

But there were no lifejackets aboard, Seiles said, and the other five passengers apparently drowned. All five bodies were recovered.

Seiles identified the victims as his wife, Delores, and their only daughter, 18-month-old Deborah. Hugh Wilkison, 32, a cousin of Mrs. Seiles' from Dania, Fla.; Wilkison's wife, Patricia, and their son, Dana, 7, William was a veteran airline pilot, according to Seiles.

The party had rented the single engine Mooney Mite at the Fort Lauderdale Airport and had taken off for a visit to Nassau.

The group had asked the airport attendants to refuel the plane before going on a tour of the island. Seiles said, "We assumed that the plane had been refueled when we left."

A short time after leaving Nassau Wilkison expressed surprise that one of the fuel tanks was empty and switched back to the other.

"I told him, 'If you think we can't make it, let's turn back,'" Seiles related. But Wilkison said he thought there was enough fuel to complete the cross-water hop and they continued.

A half hour after the crash a fishing party spotted the passengers in the water and took them aboard. The five victims were pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital.

Todd's Wife in Seclusion After Funeral

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Actress Elizabeth Taylor rested in seclusion today, away from the spotlight where she said her public goodbye to Mike Todd.

The dark-haired film star returned home Tuesday night from Todd's Chicago funeral, ending a 24-hour ordeal of travel across the nation and back and the strain of the graveside rites.

A family squabble and 5,000 curious onlookers spoiled plans of Todd's family for a simple, dignified ceremony, devoid of the carnival-like Todd loved in life.

Miss Taylor ignored the disturbances in her grief. She staggered three times entering the tent which covered Todd's grave at the foot of his father's resting place, and sobbed throughout the 35-minute ceremony with courage.

"No... No..." she cried when she saw the coffin, and was led away to sit down.

Those who witnessed the rites, conducted by Rabbi Abraham Joseph, denied that the 26-year-old widow threw herself on Todd's coffin and screamed.

Rather, they said, she touched the bronze casket at the end of the ceremony and said "I love you, Mike."

Six hours later she was aboard a plane bound for home, along with her doctor, Rexford Kennamer, singer Eddie Fisher, Todd's son, Mike Jr., and his wife.

Behind her left all that remained of her flamboyant husband who in 30 years rose from the streets of Chicago and changed the name of Avram Goldbogen to be Mike Todd, showman extraordinary, high roller, who died in a New Mexico plane crash last Saturday as he had lived — spectacularly.

Elvis Being Transferred to Ft. Hood

By PHIL NEWMAN

United Press Staff Correspondent

FORT CHAFFEE, Ark. (UP) — Having given his sideburns for his country, Pvt. Elvis Presley exchanged his checkered sports coat and black Ivy League trousers today for a green fatigue suit and a pair of size 12 Army boots.

All told, the Army gave Presley, the rock 'n' roll singer, 75 pounds of clothing. It staggered Presley, who is 23 and who weighs 180 pounds, to lift the duffel bag it was in.

"I'm going to have to lift weights or something to get in good enough physical condition to lift this bag," he said.

This was Presley's third day in the army, and his induction platoon of 51 men was outnumbered by reporters and photographers. He paid 65 cents yesterday to have his famous sideburns clipped off by an Army barber.

Gets Army Clothes

Today, after 10 hours sleep and a big breakfast he lined up to draw the Army clothing he will wear to the next two years.

He stirred everybody in the clothing issue line, from privates to sergeants, but didn't recognize as such a colonel who asked him whether his fatigue cap fit and simply said, "Yes." The colonel didn't make a point of Capt. Arlie Melton, the Chaffee public information officer, to stop the whole line so they could take pictures of him in his forest green dress uniform.

Gol. Tom Parker, Presley's civilian manager, asked whether he could get Presley one of the shoe-stirring lies that he habitually wears.

"No, sir. If I wore a single tie in here, I'd have to take the punishment, not you," Presley said.

"I believe he'd make a good soldier if they'd just let him alone," a grizzled old master sergeant muttered.

DOROTHY DIX

Lover Boy Neglects His Books for Gals

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a 19-year-old college student with a problem! My high school sweetheart, Sally, was a wonderful girl. After graduation she got a hometown job, and I went away (several hundred miles) to college. At first she dominated my thoughts to the detriment of higher education, but I soon came to realize that I was here for a purpose and had better achieve it. So I dated a girl on the campus. Now I think of them both. Of course, Sally given her permission to date other fellows, too, so she has no gripe. My friends say I shouldn't keep two romances going, that some day I may wake up and find I have no romance. I'm not trying to be a two-timer, just insuring my education.

Dear Studios: If only they gave As in conceit, you'd get a diploma with flying colors, fella. If you're serious about the pursuit of education, maybe you'd better switch to an all-male college. Distractions come easy to you. There's certainly nothing wrong in dating two girls, as long as they know about each other and you keep no strings on them. I suggest, however, that you put a bit more concentration on your studies.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Every once in a while my girl friend and I double date with two boys who think it amusing to talk in code. We think this is just about as impolite as whispering. We'd like to know how to cure the habit.

ANGELA

Dear Angela: Learn another code and give them a dose of their own medicine. Or, refuse the next date on the grounds that since you don't speak their language you might as well go to the movies by yourselves.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Doris and I have been going steady for over a year. I enlisted in the Army, was sent to camp and when I came home after three months' absence, she seemed completely changed. We never quarreled before, but have been arguing almost constantly since I got home. She's 15, I'm 18. I think her girl friends are trying to get her to break off with me so she'll go out on dates with them, and they'll have more fun.

Dear Bruce: A girl of 15 is much too young to be going steady. Doris has probably been listening to objections from friends and family, and is just thoroughly confused. End the steady dating until you can be home to give her your undivided attention.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a high-school junior and I know my vocation is serving God. A boy wishes to marry me and even though I've told him of my decision he won't believe it. How can I make him understand yet not lose his friendship? I don't want to leave a broken heart behind when I go.

C. D.

Dear C. D.: There isn't room in your life for a religious vocation wear to the next two years.

He stirred everybody in the clothing issue line, from privates to sergeants, but didn't recognize as such a colonel who asked him whether his fatigue cap fit and simply said, "Yes." The colonel didn't make a point of Capt. Arlie Melton, the Chaffee public information officer, to stop the whole line so they could take pictures of him in his forest green dress uniform.

Indonesians Launch Push Against Rebels

By WILLIAM MILLER

United Press Staff Correspondent

SINGAPORE (UP) — Indonesian central government troops launched an all-out drive against the revolutionary strongholds of Padang and Bukittingli on the west coast of Sumatra tonight.

The Jakarta forces threw one offensive against the rebels in the Lake Toba region of North Sumatra and pressed two drives from Pakanbaru and Lubuk Djambi in Central Sumatra.

The loyalist-controlled radio at Medan, capital of North Sumatra, said the Lake Toba attack had sent rebel troops reeling off in defeat.

The Jakarta commander in Central Sumatra claimed similar victories in the areas which comprise the core of the U.S.-owned Caltex and Slangue oilfield holdings.

The situation in Padang and the nearby rebel capital of Bukittingli was not clear. The radio stations in both cities did not broadcast as usual tonight. The United Press staff correspondent Wendell S. Merick confirmed in a dispatch from Bukittingli that the all-out government drive was on.

The Medan broadcast Jakarta forces had trapped a large group of rebels near Seribu Dolok, 80 miles south of Medan in the Lake Toba region. It said these insurgents were being pounded with artillery in an attempt to force them to surrender.

The central government also claimed the capture of many small villages in this area, pointing up the intensity of the drive to force all rebel troops out of North Sumatra and open the road to Bukittingli.

The Indonesian navy announced it had cut off the last sea supply routes for Padang by mining the waters off western Sumatra. Earlier, the Jakarta naval forces had captured a Danish freighter which had run the blockade into Padang and then left that harbor Tuesday in answer to a loyalist ultimatum.

Meet to Discuss the Handicapped

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — The Governor's Committee on Employment of the Physically Handicapped will meet Friday, according to chairman Dr. Charles B. Thompson.

He said Maurice Acers, member of the Texas Employment Commission, will speak at a night meeting of the committee.

Kansas City Sends Out Two Players

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UP)—Left-handed pitchers Rip Coleman and George Brunel were optioned yesterday by the Kansas City Athletics to their Buffalo, N. Y. farm club of the International League.

Brunel, on 24-hour recall basis, led the Southern Association last year in strikeouts with 235 while compiling a 14-15 record at Little Rock. A's Manager Harry Craft said he wanted Brunel to get more seasoning.

Craft said Coleman has been ineffective so far this year and early action cast doubt that "The Tipper" would make the Athletics squad.

Coleman came from the Yankees last year in the deal that sent Bobby Shantz to New York. Coleman spent most of 1937 with Buffalo, gaining a 7-5 record, and 4-7 with the A's.

A heavy rain yesterday forced cancellation of the Athletics-Pittsburgh game. It was only the second time the A's have been rained out of a game in 13 training sessions here.

Yankees Still American Loop Favorites
By WRS Sports Editor

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP)—Almost everyone except a few managers and officials of rival clubs, are conceding the 1938 American League pennant to the New York Yankees.

Managers Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox and Jack Tighe of the Detroit Tigers are the leaders of the small faction which maintains that the Yankees can be beaten. On the other hand, Cookie Lavagetto, manager of the Washington Senators, predicts the Yankees will win by 15 games.

It's hard to see any team coming close to the Yankees unless they come up with serious injuries to such key players as Mickey Vernon and Bill Skowron. Even old Casey Stengel, shooting for his ninth pennant in the 10 years he has managed the Yankees, agrees his club "is loaded."

What Players to Keep
"My big problem is to decide what players along our fine crop of youngsters to keep," Stengel explains. Because he has so many established players and promising rookies, only four players, outside the pitching department, are sure to play every day.

They are center fielder Mantle, first baseman Skowron, catcher Yogi Berra and Gil McDougald, who will hold down one of three infield spots — second, third or short.

Last year, McDougald blossomed into the best all-around shortstop in the league, but Stengel is giving sophomore Tony Kubek a shot at that job. If he makes it, the chances are McDougald will play second.

Also in the infield picture are Andy Carey, a veteran and Jerry Lumpe, a second-year man, who are competing for third base; second sacker Bobby Richardson; rookie shortstop Fritz Brickell, and Marv Throneberry, who will understand Skowron at first.

If Kubek doesn't make it in the infield, he probably will play left field. Otherwise it probably will be Norm Siebert, who would have started the 1936 season as a Yankee regular except for a spring training injury.

Veteran Hank Bauer and rookie Deron Johnson are candidates for the right field post. Johnson hit .302 at Binghamton last season and has shown plenty of power. Lack of experience may keep him from making the club, however, although he figures strongly in Stengel's plans for the future.

Harry Simpson, obtained from Kansas City, veteran Enos Slaughter and Bob Del Greco, the National League castoffs, are other outfield candidates.

Howard Will Catch
Also, there is Elton Howard, who can play the outfield, but Stengel plans to catch him behind Berra more this coming season. Berra caught in 134 games last year, but Stengel believes his ace receiver "will do better with a bit more rest." A rookie, John Blanchard, is pushing Darryl Johnson for the third-string catching job.

Stengel's regular starters figure to be Whitey Ford (11-5), who appears to have recovered completely from his shoulder injury of last season; Don Larsen (10-4); Bob Turley (13-0); Tom Sturdivant (10-6) and Johnny Kucks (8-10).

For spot starting roles and relief chores there will be pin-sized Bobby Shantz (11-8), who held up the Yankees in the early going last season when Ford was hurt, and 41-year-old Sam Maglie, who won two while losing none after he was sold to the Yankees late last season by the Dodgers.

Chances Slim for Any New Labor Laws

WASHINGTON (UP)—Chances are slim Congress will pass new labor legislation this year despite prodding from the administration and the Senate Rackets Committee.

A source close to the Democratic leadership said the Senate may approve a few mild proposals, if it gets a bill from its labor committee. But it was considered unlikely the House will act on labor legislation of any type.

The Rackets Committee report on its first year's investigation drew an angry blast Monday night from AFL-CIO President George Meany, who called it a "disgraceful, sensational 'in-car' showing of anti-labor bias."

Meany said the report raised grave doubts as to the "impartiality, objectivity and integrity" of the committee's future operations. However, he said the AFL-CIO supports most of the committee's legislative recommendations.

Kennedy Begins Hearings

The committee, in a first installment of its report Monday, charged that officials of five unions investigated during the past year stole, embezzled or otherwise misused more than 10 million dollars in union funds. It also said gangsters and hoodlums had infiltrated firms "engaged in a number of illegal and improper activities."

A Senate Labor subcommittee headed by Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) is scheduled to open hearings Wednesday on a host of measures including recommendations for new legislation.

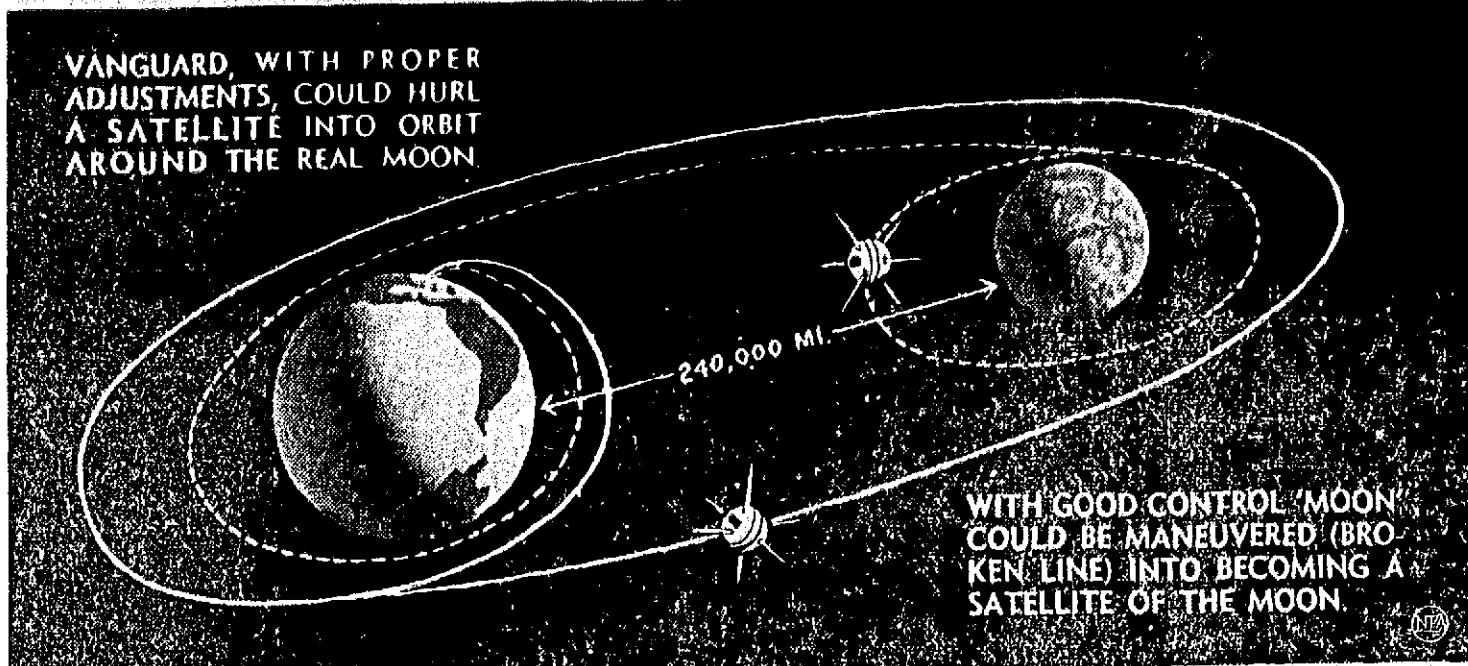

Although this is late in the session to begin work on such a controversial subject, observers believe there still is time for Senate action.

They gave the best chance of passage to a bill to provide more protection for union welfare and pension funds. Such a step was recommended both in President Roosevelt's Jan. 23 labor message and the Rackets Committee report.

Kohler Study Ending
Other Rackets Committee proposals, along with the enforcement of union dues, promote democratic union procedures, extend unfair labor practice penalties to so-called middlemen employed by management and expand national labor relations board jurisdiction.

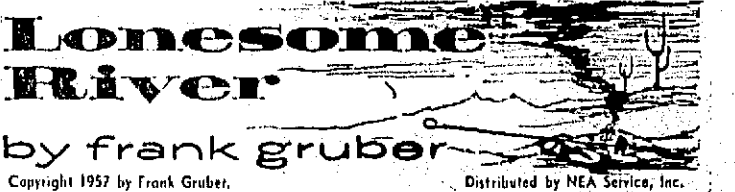

Kennedy's subcommittee hearings pose a new complication for the Rackets Committee in its long investigation of its four week old Kohler strike investigation this week.

Chief Counsel Robert F. Kennedy, brother of the senator, said the rackets group should be able to complete its study of a union boycott of Kohler Co. products to

RING AROUND THE MOON—In the wake of Vanguard's successful flight into space, we can expect "attempts to do even more spectacular things," according to Dr. John P. Hagen, director of the Navy's Vanguard program. Hagen and other American satellite experts envision an artificial moon in orbit around the real moon—240,000 miles away. Or, says Hagen, "with good control, it could be maneuvered into becoming a satellite of the moon"—so it would then circle the moon instead of the earth. Hagen, who says, "the world isn't going to stand still" now that the U.S. and Russia each has launched two satellites, believes we can put a ring around the moon—perhaps within a year if we try hard enough.

THE STORY: After 11 years, Tom Weber returns to Barker's. He left the place penniless, and he is almost broke when he returns as a hobo. He meets Marshall Eads, the local banker, who remembers him.

Eads took a key from his pocket, unlocked the door, then, throwing it open, stood aside for Weber to enter. "Yes," he said, "I'm the banker." He chuckled. "Not bad for a man who came to Lobo Valley with just a wagon-load of groceries."

He bustled in behind Weber, struck a match and lit a lamp. He led Weber to an enclosure at the front of the bank and pushed him into a big chair.

"Now, what's this nonsense about just passing through?" "Barkerville means nothing to me," Weber said tonelessly.

"Don't it, boy? You lived here most of your life, your Ma died here and your Pa—" He paused, then continued, "Your Pa still lives here."

So Charlie Weber was still alive. In eleven years Weber had not written to him, had not heard from or of his father.

"Besides," Eads was saying, "there's your ranch. What am I going to do about it?"

"My ranch?" "Your ranch. Three hundred and twenty acres of the best land in the valley."

"My father's ranch?" said Weber.

"Uh-uh, your'n. It was deeded to you 11 years ago. Mmm, a day or two after you disappeared. It's your land. You can sell it."

"With 11 years' back taxes against it?"

"The land's free and clear. The taxes have been paid."

"By—my father?" Eads hesitated then shrugged.

"They been paid, Jeff Alderton'll buy it from you. He's asked me about it several times. I even tried to locate you a couple of years ago. That was when he was spreading out, right after he married Lily Barker."

"Jeff married Lily Barker?" exclaimed Weber softly. "Didn't—didn't she go back East after her father died?"

"You have been out of touch,

Lily Barker married to Jeff Alderton. Lily Alderton, the wife of Governor Alderton.

"Go out to your place," Eads said, "look it over and if you still decide that you don't want it, I'll sell it for you." He suddenly grinned.

"Mmm, I almost forgot. You may have a little trouble with the squatter who moved into your old house awhile ago. But maybe it's just as well to get him off the place before he gets any ideas of phony-empting or such."

The banker thrust a hand into his pocket. "Would I be insulting you if I asked if you had any money?"

"The deputy sheriff told you I came in on a freight."

"A—loan?" "No."

"All right Tom, all right. But remember I'm a banker. My business is lending money. If you decide you want to stay and fix up the ranch, come and see me."

The road as Weber remembered it, ran west and north out of Barkerville. It cut directly across Lobo land, barely touched a tip of the old Alderton ranch.

crossed the first of the several bands of Lobo River and continued on toward the Weber ranch, an island, surrounded by Lobo. At least that was the way it had been.

It was 12 miles. An easy two hour jog for a horse, three hours and a little more afoot.

Leaving Barkerville, Weber trudged along the road for an hour, then came to the first crossing of Lobo River. A bridge had been built across it. In the old days, even during the spring rains, it had been possible to ford the river on horseback. In dry season you didn't even get a horse's feet wet. It should have been the dry season now, yet there was water under the bridge.

Old Sam Barker had been right. All Lobo needed was a dam across the mouth of Lobo Canyon. And Lily Barker had put up the dam.

After another hour of walking, Weber crossed the river again, also over a bridge. He had scarcely traversed it than he heard the pounding of horses' hoofs coming from the direction of Barkerville. He ran swiftly back to the bridge, got out of sight beside it before the horsemen crossed.

There were two and they were riding swiftly. It was getting on toward 11 o'clock and the moon was high, almost full. One of the riders was Paul Partridge, with whom Weber had come into Barkerville.

Another mile and he passed the river for the third time. On the right, a hundred yards back from the road, was a block of shadow.

Adams Seeks U. S. Aid of State Unemployed

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—State Welfare Commissioner Carl Adams fore the House Ways and Means day for Washington to appear before a Congressional committee studying unemployment.

Adams said he will appear before the House Ways and Means committee headed by Rep. Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark.). He will make the appearance as a representative of the American Public Welfare Association.

The welfare director said he would ask that the federal government provide help for unemployed persons not covered by unemployment insurance. Farm families, he said, for example, need the assistance as they do not qualify for help under unemployment compensation.

Adams said some persons who have lost their jobs had been caring for their older relatives. He said there may be an increase in the welfare old age assistance program as a result.

Fill-in Member Is Regular Member

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The attorney general's office said today a school board member elected by the board to fill a vacancy is legally an officer of the board.

W. E. Rohrer, a board member of Mansfield district at Hunting said A. H. Cross was elected as a school board member last fall by the board, without a petition election were legal and if not, whether it could be corrected.

Pistols, Ammo Stolen From Store

COTTON PLANT (UP)—An arsenal of pistols, rifles and ammunition was stolen from the Brad Brady Hardware store here sometime Monday night, officers reported.

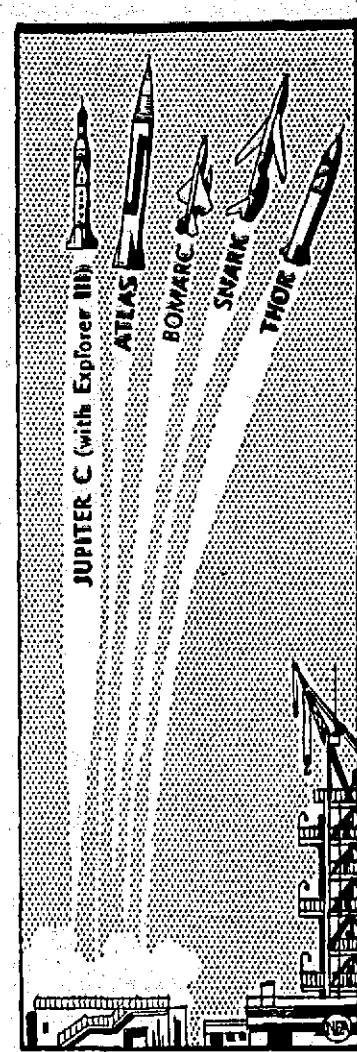

They said the burglar or burglars gained entrance to the store by breaking a glass transom above the front door. Brady told officers that a preliminary check showed the theft of nine pistols, two rifles, five boxes of .22 caliber shells, and other ammunition, a number of which had been born, in which he had lived for 21 years.

He stopped a hundred yards away, unrolled his bundle and took out a revolver. He spun the cylinder carefully, tested the action and thrust the gun behind the waistband of his Levi's. Rewrapping what remained of the bundle, he moved cautiously to the house.

BUSY, BUSY—The stepped-up scale of America's space program is now evident at Cape Canaveral, Fla., where these five missiles are scheduled to be fired in rapid order in the near future. The huge test center has a normal firing routine of one missile a day. However, it has fired three in one day.
